Q: What does the test cover?

A: The exam tests knowledge in the following areas: Analytics, Asset, Predix Cloud, Data Management, DevOps, Predix Machine, Security, and UI Services.

Q: How long is the exam?

A: There is a 2 hour maximum on the exam. Most are taking between 90 - 120mins.

Q: What is a passing score?

A: 86 of 120 multiple-choice questions

Q: Must a developer attend training to take the exam?

A: No. However, our initial testing found that the best chance of achieving a passing score is a developer who attended a Developer Boot Camp and also had practical project experience.

Q: How are exams administered?

A: Exams are proctored online.

Q: When are the tests offered?

A: Through July, exams are offered every Monday and Wednesday, any 2 hours the test taker prefers. Will be offered daily starting in August.

Q: What are the proctoring rules?

A: Test takers must take the exam in a private room such as a conference room or home location. The online proctor will ask the test taker to pan the room with their computer camera to ensure that the room is empty and there aren't any notes in the general vicinity of the test taker. The test may be halted or terminated at any time the proctor feels there is suspicious activity. The test session is recorded and available for review by GE if a result is challenged.

Q: What is the cost?

A: The exam is $350 usd. Retakes are $100 usd.

Q: What if I don't pass the exam?

CERTIFIED DEVELOPER

A: The exam can be taken again. We require a 2 week wait period between exams. Each retake is $100 usd.

Q: How long will my certification be valid?

A: Certifications are valid for 2 years.

Q: When will I receive my score?

A: You will receive your score within 72 hours of finishing the exam.

Q: Are there any preparation materials or courses?

A: The best up to date information on Predix can be found on Predix.io. The 5 day Developer Boot Camp covers the broad range of topics that are in the exam, however hands on project experience is key to succeeding. There will be a 2 day preparation class offered to those who are already familiar with Predix.
